

Contents

INTRODUCTION

NeuroLeadership in 2009 Dr. Al Ringleb and David Rock	2
--	---

---

RESEARCH

The brain's braking system (and how to 'use your words' to tap into it) Dr. Matthew Lieberman	9
Neuroscience of engagement David Rock and Dr. Yiyuan Tang	15
Mindsight at work: an interpersonal neurobiology lens on leadership Dr. Daniel Siegel and Debra Pearce McCall	23
Applying empathy and mirror neuron concepts to NeuroLeadership Dr. Marco Iacoboni and Dr. Roger W. McHaney	35

---

CASE STUDIES

The CIMBA MBA leadership process: intergrating learning from neuroscience and social psychology Dr. Al Ringleb and Dr. Milan Pagon	42
--	----

---

NOTES

The potential contribution of neuroscience to authentic leadership Dr. Paul McDonald	53
Emotional intelligence, and the amygdala: towards the development of the concept of the limbic leader in executive coaching Dr. Paul Brown, Dr. Tara Swart and Jane Meyler, MIPD	67
Defining NeuroLeadership as a field David Rock and Dr. Al Ringleb	78
Accessing the chemistry of wellness and performance Ian Weinberg, M.B.	85
Mindfulness as capacity: at the threshold of leadership's next wave? Dr. Angela Love and Julie Maloney, M.A.	94

---

Editorial Board:

Dr. Al Ringleb	CIMBA, Italy
David Rock	CIMBA, Italy
Dr. Yiyuan Tang	Dalian University of Technology, China
Dr. Milan Pagon	CIMBA, Italy
Dr. Roger W. McHaney	Kansas State University
Dr. Gary Gaeth	University of Iowa

Address for correspondence: NeuroLeadership Institute, GPO Box 395, Sydney NSW 2001 Australia

Contributions: Send your contributions to the NeuroLeadership JOURNAL, email info@NeuroLeadership.org

---

This JOURNAL will be published annually. We encourage readers to propose a paper for the next edition of this JOURNAL. We recommend sending in a two page proposal before submitting a finished paper and welcome pure science, as well as case studies and discussion pieces. For further information as to how to submit a paper for the next JOURNAL go to www.NeuroLeadership.org