

Contents

RESEARCH

The emerging field of NeuroLeadership Dr. Al H. Ringleb and David Rock	3
How insight happens: learning from the brain Dr. Mark Jung-Beeman, Azurii Collier and Dr. John Kounios	20
Staying cool under pressure: insights from social cognitive neuroscience and their implications for self and society Dr. Kevin Ochsner	26
The neuroscience of mindfulness Dr. Yi-Yuan Tang and Dr. Michael I. Posner	33
The pains and pleasures of social life: a social cognitive neuroscience approach Dr. Matthew Lieberman and Dr. Naomi Eisenberger	38
SCARF: a brain-based model for collaborating with and influencing others David Rock	44

CASE STUDIES

Mindfulness, wellbeing and performance Dr. Craig Hassed	53
Using human brain dynamics to enhance workplace team dynamics: evidence from two applied case studies Dr. Lea Waters	61

NOTES

Are we on the same wavelength? Mirror neurons and shared experience Hamish McMaster	67
NeuroLeadership and Integrative Neuroscience: "it's about VALIDATION stupid!" Dr. Evian Gordon	71

Editorial Board:

Dr. Al Ringleb	CIMBA
David Rock	CIMBA
Dr. Yi-Yuan Tang	Dalian University of Technology, China
Dr. Milan Pagon	Middle East Technical University
Dr. Gary Gaeth	University of Iowa

Additional reviewers: Dr. Evian Gordon, Rachel Sheppard, Karen Jayne Eyre.

Address for correspondence: NeuroLeadership Institute, c/o CIMBA, Via Collegio 40, 31011 Asolo, Italy

Contributions: Send your contributions to the NeuroLeadership JOURNAL, email info@NeuroLeadership.org

This JOURNAL will be published annually. We encourage readers to propose a paper for the next edition of this JOURNAL, due out at the time of the next Summit in October 2009. Final submissions due by 31 July 2009. We recommend sending in a proposal before submitting a finished paper, and welcome pure science, as well as case studies and discussion pieces.